

DATA ANALYST

VS

BUSINESS ANALYST

Qualification, Responsibilities, Salary and Skills/tools used

@onestopdata

Role Description

Data Analyst

Data Analyst is the person who understands the data, manipulates and models it , analyses and visualizes it

Business Analyst

Business Analyst is the person who uses the insights derived from the data to help organization making data driven decisions.

Majority of the times in the actual job, the roles are overlapping

@onestopdata

Qualifications

Data Analyst

Bachelors/Undergrad degree is needed

Business Analyst

Bachelors/ Undergrad degree is needed.

For both the roles, IT and Non-IT people are eligible as long as you have relevant skills and projects/experience

@onestopdata

Salary Expectations

Data Analyst

Entry Level: 2 Lac to 10+ Lac, Average is 4-5 lacs per annum

Business Analyst

Entry Level: 2 Lac to 10+ Lac, Average is 4-5 lacs per annum

(Salary Expectation for both the job roles are almost same)

@onestopdata

Responsibilities

Data Analyst

- (1) Understanding Business Requirements
- (2) Gathering and Cleaning Data
- (3) Processing data
- (4) Creating reports for business leaders
- (5) Collaborating with people

@onestopdata

Responsibilities

Business Analyst

- (1) Business Development
- (2) Understanding business strategies, goals, and requirements
- (3) Forecasting, budgeting, and planning
- (4) Compiling and understanding insights to take strategic actions based on organization's needs
- (5) Acting as a go-between for management and technical personnel.
- (6) Making informed decisions along with stakeholders

@onestopdata

Tools & Skills

Data Analyst

Excel, PowerBI/ Tableau, SQL, Python/R,
Statistics

Business Analyst

SQL/Excel, MS PowerPoint/Visio/ Access,
PowerBI/Tableau, Python/R (if needed)